

HARRY MIAN

SENIOR FULL STACK
DEVELOPER

About Me

I'm a frontend specialized full stack web developer focused on expanding my skills and creating a productive and impactful experience with passion and purpose. Hoping to fit into a team where I can contribute and challenge myself everyday. I have over a decade of experience in my field from a freelancer usually helping startups learning to be a one man business becoming incredibly productive to working with agencies and large companies. I enjoy independent organized work environments as well as being involved in a concerted team effort to drive success.
